Problem Statement

Our university currently faces challenges in efficiently collecting and managing data on research papers. The use of Google Forms restricts submissions to a limited number of papers, creating difficulties for faculty members with extensive research portfolios.

Additionally, the process of compiling and reviewing submissions from cumbersome Excel sheets is time-consuming and prone to errors.

Solution

IRRP (IGDTUW Research Reward Portal) offers a streamlined web application for faculty to submit an unlimited number of research papers effortlessly. This platform simplifies the administrative process, allowing for easy access and evaluation of submitted papers, thereby enhancing efficiency and accuracy in research data management.
